

RPowerD™ - Soybean Rally Creating Opportunity

The post harvest rally in beans is setting up a great opportunity for producers to set their sites on price targets using the Market Price opt-in feature in RPowerD to establish an excellent minimum revenue. At the same time they can select multiple intervals to set themselves up for additional revenue opportunity next spring and summer. Remember, you have until midnight the next business day to purchase an RPowerD estimate creating even more value to the service you can provide with RPowerD.

The www.AgenteVantage.com website contains the RPowerD estimator, training materials and decision tools to help an agent and their producers understand the policy and make the best risk management decisions for their farming operations.
